

HP Indigo company, that deals with digital printing, is seeking candidates for a technological, innovative and fascinating project that combines research and development of special formulations.

The major requirements are as follows:

Bachelor's Degree in Chemistry / Science / Materials Engineering/Chemical Engineering - Compulsory

Master or Doctoral student - an advantage

Experience working in a laboratory - required

Has the ability to work and learn independently, energetic and enthusiastic

Knowledge of batteries, fuel cells or electrochemistry - an advantage

Availability for work: 2-5 days a week

The project is in the framework of the joint development with Tel Aviv University.

Send your CV to:

aron.grinwald@hp.com

golod@tauex.tau.ac.il